They will have to be copyright free and pass Copyscape 100% as well.

We're looking for someone to work with long term on this so if you're interested let me know and I'll send you some samples of the types of videos we're looking for and you can let me know if you can do it.

Also, if you've ever written any scripts for YouTube videos, please attach samples of your work.

I look forward to hopefully working with you!

Notes

- ⦿ Depending on the channel, the script writer might also need to find clips for your videos
- ⦿ If you're talking about specific clips in your videos, then the script writer includes those video links in the script
 - ⇒ The video editor then downloads the videos to use
- ⦿ If it's more of a general video, for example: "Psychological Tricks to Be Liked By People" then the video editor can simply use free stock footage
